NINJA 2 / NINJA BLADE COMES TO EOS C100 MARK II

Promotion Period from 1 April–30 June 2015

Streamline video production workflow and expand video recording capabilities with the Atomos Ninja 2. From 1 April – 30 June 2015, the EOS C100 Mark II now comes with a complimentary Atomos Ninja 2 recorder-monitor that delivers 1920 x 1080 10-bit 4:2:2 footage in high-quality edit-ready Apple ProRes or Avid DNxHD.

Alternatively, with an additional top up of USD300*, you can get an Atomos Ninja Blade featuring a SuperAtom 5-inch 1280 x 720 capacitive touchscreen.

Exchange rate differs between participating countries.*

CUTTING EDGE RECORDING– MONITORING ADVANTAGE

Take full advantage of the EOS C100 Mark II's 4K oversampling feature by recording directly from the Super35mm sensor via uncompressed HDMI signal onto the Atomos Ninja 2/Ninja Blade, in bitrates up to 200Mbps.

ProRes
Avid DNxHD®
422 10-BIT

Recording in edit-ready Apple ProRes or Avid DNxHD format helps the EOS C100 Mark II to realize a faster turnaround speed in post-production workflows. The EOS C100 Mark II is also able to shoot for longer recording times as it no longer relies solely on the camera's card.

TIMECODE
START/STOP TRIGGER

Other Ninja 2/Ninja Blade features include a custom Canon-Atomos record start/stop trigger over HDMI to accurately synchronize timecodes between internal and external recordings, and an option to loop out the HDMI signal to larger preview monitors.
